

TRAVIS ATWOOD

Travis Atwood, who lives in the Clusters with his wife Molly, and their son Brogan, is running for the Board of Directors of the Foothills Clusters Homeowner's Association because he is passionate about making an already great neighborhood even better for all residents. He is asking not only for your vote, but if elected, your feedback and suggestions to help the Board come up with creative and cost-effective ways to improve the neighborhood.

Originally from Texas, Travis served as an Infantry Officer in the United States Army and deployed to combat. After his time in the Army, Travis moved to Tucson to attend law school at the University of Arizona, which is where he met Molly. Travis has grown to love Tucson and has put down roots and now considers it home. Travis and Molly moved to the Clusters over two years ago and look forward to raising Brogan here for many years to come

When he isn't working in his job as an attorney at a local law firm, Travis loves to be outside and enjoy the natural beauty that living in the Clusters provides. You may see him walking with his family or running early in the morning with his Chocolate Lab. Travis thinks that the Foothills Clusters is a great place to live and would appreciate your vote so that he can help make it even better.
